

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Namescape's rDirectory and myPassword Advances to the next level with v2.5

Expanding Identity Management Applications

PHOENIX, AZ – October 7, 2009 – Namescape extends the value of Microsoft's Active Directory and Identity Management challenges from infrastructure burdens to strategic business advantages. Our applications leverage your IT infrastructure by providing scalable web-based directory solutions.

rDirectory, our flagship product, is the most versatile and secure web-based employee and resource directory on the market and is popularly used as a dynamic advanced employee directory. rDirectory's latest version is compatible with IIS7 and Windows Server 2008 advancing administrative functionality, security and performance in the management of Active Directory. There are four rDirectory editions available designed to provide tailored solutions based upon a customer's exact needs and requirements; Enterprise, Professional, Standard and Community Edition. rDirectory comes pre-configured with common applications. The FREE COMMUNITY EDITION version also includes Server 2008 and IIS7.

myPassword, our self-service Active Directory password management reset solution, works effortlessly with rDirectory or independently, and includes an email based verification and anti-hacker security requirements. myPassword is now available in multi-lingual languages!

English – French – Spanish - German

There is also an ability to configure to additional languages by manually editing the files. You can automatically reduce 40% of help desk workload and drive user productivity by quickly restoring access without increasing costly overhead. Additionally, we now support Fine-Grained Password Policies.

The new features are available today to all existing Namescape rDirectory and myPassword customers with active maintenance and are automatically provided at no charge. #### About Namescape

Namescape's mission is to enable organizations and employees to realize the full potential of directory technology in everyday activities. Our goal is to provide our customers with the very best products and services to ensure ongoing customer satisfaction. These new features were created as a direct result of the great feedback we have received from our respected customers. My expectation is that v2.5 will add significant benefits to your Namescape family of products.
